

Mrs. Stacie Ann

Mrs. Stacie Ann and her family have lived in Poulsbo for over 20 years. She began her career in environmental sciences but after the birth of her daughters found working with young children to be far more rewarding.

Stacie returned to school and earned a degree in education from Liberty University. She worked for Gateway Christian Schools as both a head teacher and assistant for over seven years.

During this time Stacie earned her certificate in both personal training and group fitness instruction from the Aerobics and Fitness Association of America and became a certified Yoga instructor through Yogafit.

She started to see how research was backing a need for more movement in early childhood education and believed she could create an educational program that took a more holistic approach.

For the last two years she has been building that program, focusing on both large motor skills through movement activities as well as fine motor skills during classroom time. Stacie's goal is to partner with parents to create an environment that will foster a life-long love of learning in each of her students.
